

Protect Our Communities and the Environment

Faith-rooted and conscience-led people say “NO on 2117”

As people of faith and conscience, we cherish the beauty of Washington State and are committed to caring for the diversity of people and creatures who live here. Together, we can protect our communities and the environment by voting “No on Initiative 2117” in November.

NOW IS OUR CHANCE TO AFFIRM OUR VALUES OF JUSTICE, SUSTAINABILITY AND COLLABORATION BY VOTING NO ON 2117.

Our vote will protect programs that:

-  Improve the HEALTH of OUR COMMUNITIES, especially in frontline and overburdened communities, by reducing toxic air and water pollution,
-  Increase the sustainability & RESILIENCE of FORESTS to wildfire by supporting local conservation efforts,
-  Fund access to high-efficiency home heating appliances for low- and moderate-income households to SAVE MONEY on their monthly energy bills,
-  Preserve the HEALTH of OUR CHILDREN and environment through zero-emissions school buses, expanded clean public transit service, and no-cost transit for youth,
-  Develop clean energy projects, like solar and wind, which CREATES JOBS across our economy .

Washington communities thrive when we have clean air to breathe, safe water to drink, and an economy rooted in sustainable local jobs. By investing in solutions like clean energy infrastructure, healthy forests, clean water and air, we can build healthier communities and protect the beauty of the land we call home.
